HARTMAN REPORTS NO FRAUD IN STUDENT BODY FUNDS AUDIT; URGES BETTER BOOKKEEPING

No evidence of misappropriations of student body of cafeteria funds were reported by David Hartman, Grass Valley accountant in his written report to the board of trustees of the Nevada City unified school district Monday evening before a gathering of 35 persons.

Hartman pointed out in his report that the procedures pertaining to the care of funds and manner of keeping records had been such that it would be quite difficult if not impossible to detect irregularities.

Hartman also said the situation which had become embarrassing, calls for a complete attitude change on the part of all concerned.

Hartman's report on the audit follows:

"In connection with our examination of the accounts of the student body funds and the cafeteria accounts of the Nevada City high school and the Nevada City elementary school for the school year 1948-49 and in harmony with your request there is submitted herewith the following statements of receipts and disbursements.

"As stated in our recent communication pertaining to the installation of bookkeeping systems for these enterprises, the records of the past are not adequate for the preparation of such reports as you requested. The auditor spent considerable time in collaboration with the school personnel to obtain the data presented. In some instances the memories of the school staff supplied information as to the nature of the various receipts and disbursements. It was not possible always to state the exact amount of the items. At times the records did not disclose definitely the purpose for which the money was paid. In other cases it was necessary to take the total receipts for the year and proceed to prorate the same by means of memory, sundry memorandums, etc., to obtain an approximate breakdown of the receipts. The foregoing situation applies to the student body funds of both schools. The cafeteria records of the elementary were such that a reasonably accurate statement of both receipts and disbursements could be prepared. While the records of the cafeteria of the high school were somewhat lacking, it was possible to obtain a statement of receipts and disbursements which is fairly dependable; some estimating was necessary in this situation, however.

"The balance of cash on hand of the high school student organization as of the beginning of the school year was not determinable. As a result schedule A (statement of receipts and disbursements of the student organizations of the Nevada City high school for the year 1948-49) is incomplete. The ending balance was $1,227.96.

"As has been pointed out previously, the condition of the records of these schools appears to be an inheritance from the past; the present school personnel have been following pretty much the course of their predecessors. Although the school board is required by the education code to take the primary responsibility for all that pertains to the funds under discussion, there appears to be no evidence that any thing of the kind has ever bene done. No doubt in the remote past these funds were very small; the custody and record-keeping of such seemed too trivial a matter for anyone to spend much time on. Through the years these four enterprises have grown until their total recepits amount to nearly $30,000 a year as of the present time. It is evident that the situation calls for a complete change of attitude on the part of all concerned.

"The auditor found no evidence of misappropriations. But it should be pointed out that the procedures of the past as pertain the care of funds and the keeping of records has been such that it would be quite difficult if not impossible to detect irregularities.

"The work of installing the bookkeeping systems which the school board recently directed be done, is proceeding fairly well. It is the plan at the high school that the books be kept by students under the direction of the teachers; of necessity the students must be given sufficient time to learn the new techniques. As of the present the matron of the high school cafeteria reports that her time for record-keeping is very limited. She is finding it difficult to keep up in her bookkeeping work. Attention should be given to this situation at once. If her load calls for clerical assistance, this should be provided without delay; otherwise the installation of a bookkeeping system will be useless.

"A number of questions regarding proper ficsal procedures have been asked. The auditor wishes to offer the following suggestions for the consideration of the board and other school authorities. These suggestions are not presented with the idea that they are the final word on the subject; however, in most cases it is believed conditions will be remedied if these suggestions or some modification of them is adopted.

"1. The school board should assume responsibility in harmony with the education code requirements for the care of the school funds under discussion. As there

AGGREGATE USE MAY REVITALIZE HYDRAULICKING

Revitalization of the hydraulic mining industry in Nebada county was voiced Sunday by George Hallock, president, California Hydraulic Miners association, at a meeting of the organization at the National hotel, here.

Hallock's note of optimism was voiced in the face of the recent statement of President Harry S. Truman that the price of gold would not be increased as long as he was in the White House.

Hallock said plans are under consideration to remove 1,400 acres of aggregate 28 feet deep within 20 miles of Nevada City. This aggregate, he continued, is to supply gravel for needed home construction created by increased population and industry in the state. The gold will be a byproduct and is estimated at 28 cents a yard.

Hallock added the removal of the aggregate would create storage space for about 200,000 acre feet of water.

Forrest Varney, manager of the Nevada irrigation district, stated "Water is becoming more and more scare and is going to be the determining factor in how far the west can develop agriculturally and industrially.

"The district is going to be short on deliveries of water unless we get rain before March. We need 40,000 acre feet of storage to complete deliveries."

The association endorsed a proposed simplification of names of the forks and tributaries of the Yuba river.

COUNTY OFFICIALS FROM 19 COUNTIES ATTEND ROAD DISCUSSION MEET

Supervisors Warren Odell, Jay Coughlan, Carl Tobiassen and Frank J. Rowe; County Road Engineer J. F. O'Connor; and County Clerk Ralph E. Deeble and officials of 18 other northern California counties gathered in the Veterans Memorial building, Red Bluff, Wednesday for a discussion on operations of the Collier-Burns act and its development in various counties.

Senator Randolph Collier, of Yreka, presided at the hearings.

COMMITTEE STUDIES SCHOOL DISTRICT PLAN

The newly organized committee on school district organization started a study Wednesday evening at a meeting in Grass Valley of the county's high schools in Nevada City and Grass Valley with a view toward eventually unifying them.

Robert Hanley, committeeman from Gold Flat school, said the present crowded conditions in the high schools and elementary schools could be relieved by the adidtion of a senior high school and the conversion of the two existing high schools into junior high schools to accommodate additional students.

FINED $200 FOR DWI

Nellie Metcalfe, Chico, was fined $200 Tuesday by Police Judge Miles D. Coughlin after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

SUPERVISORS BLAST SHERIFF HOSKINS OFFICE

Richard W. Hoskins, sheriff of Nevada county, was called on the carpet by the Nevada county board of supervisors Monday afternoon and subjected to a barrage of questions regarding the sheriff's office's handling of the Charles Mendoca robbery case.

Supervisor Carl Tobiassen, formerly sheriff for 12 years, and Supervisor Frank J. Rowe led in interrogating the sheriff.

Mendoca had reported to the supervisors that on the morning of Oct. 7 he had surprised three men in the act of stealing oil from his service station on the outskirts of Nevada City and declared that after he had held the trio at gunpoint for 45 minutes while he vainly tried to reach the sheriff's office he turned them loose.

Hoskins said Undersheriff Otis Hardt had investigated the case and in his opinion there was not sufficient evidence to hold the men. Hoskins said Mendoca had declined to sign a complaint against the alleged thieves.

At the hearing Monday Tobiasson said he felt there was ample evidence for jailing the men.

Tobiassen said, "We have furnished the facilities for 24 hour service and we should get it. I have had several similar complaints and I wonder how much of this sort of thing is going on."

Tobiassen said that on the basis of his 12 years as sheriff he felt the mileage turned in by the present sheriff's office was unreasonable.

Hoskins retorted he is running the office as economically as possible and that there have been more arrests in the past three years than there had been in the last four years of Tobiassen's regime.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE CLOSES LOCAL SCHOOLS THANKSGIVING WEEK

All schools of Nevada City and county will be closed all next week as the teachers participate with thirteen other northern California counties in teachers' institute in Sacramento Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The Thanksgiving holiday will keep the schools closed the balance of the week, according to Walter A. Carlson, county superintendent of schools.

Classes will resume Monday, Nov. 28.

$200,000 SUIT FILED IN SUPERIOR COURT

Mrs. Ann C. Faulkner filed suit in Nevada county superior court yesterday on behalf of her two daughters, Warrene, 10, and Catherine, 9, asking $201,081.06 damages against Richter Bros., W. H. Darrough & Sons, M. J. Ruddy & Sons, and Robert L. Perez.

The plaintiffs are the widow and daughters of Charles F. Faulkner, Grass Valley, who was one of three men killed Aug. 23, at the foot of the Bear valley grade, in a collision involving a pickup truck in which Faulkner was either a passenger or driving and a truck tractor operated by Perez.

Perez was a driver employed by Richter Bros., one of the contracting firms doing construction work on a new section of highway 20 at Bear valley.

Perez is charged with carelessly and negligently operating his truck in a manner that caused a log to swing from the truck and kill Faulkner and John H. Wearne and James MacDonald.

Mrs. Faulkner asks $100,000 for herself, $50,000 for each child and $1,081.06 funeral expenses.

Wallace Shepard, Sacramento, is attorney for plaintiffs.

MEETING POSTPONED

Tuesday evening's meeting of the Nevada county chapter of the American Red Cross was postponed indefinitely, Kief Melberg, chairman, announced.

FIRE RESTRICTIONS EASED IN FOREST

Special fire restrictions imposed by federal regulation earlier in the year, are rescinded as they apply to Tahoe national forest lands, according to an announcement by Guerdon Ellis, supervisor of the forest.

Ellis said campfire permits are not now required before building campfires, and smoking is no longer restricted to specific areas.

Special emphasis should be given to continued need for burning permits to dispose of debris and slash as required by state law. State and federal agencies will require debris burning permits until Thursday, Dec. 1.

DIVERSION OF HIGHWAY 40 TRAFFIC URGED

Approximately sixty men and women met Saturday evening at Grass Valley's Bret Harte Inn to discuss ways and means of channeling travel from U. S. highway 40 onto state highway 20 and to the sea and the Redwood empire. The meeting, a gathering of the Highway 20 association brought together representatives of communities along the highway from Nevada City to Fort Bragg.

Representatives from the western end of the route urged the incorporation of the Willits to Fort Bragg road into highway 20 and improving the road from a mere cow trail.

State Senators Louis Sutton of Colusa and Harold T. Johnson of Roseville, and Assemblyman Lloyd Lowrey of Rumsey, supervisors of seven counties in which the route travels and directors of the association entered into the discussion.

Johnson reported the division of highways has authorized an engineering survey for a proposed four-lane Grass Valley-Nevada City highway.

Albert F. Beecher, Lake county, junior past president of the Redwood Empire association, and T. Fred Bagshaw, chairman of Marin county board of supervisors, presented the western interests of the association.

"The tourist dollar is a good dollar," Beecher declared in urging the diversion of a share of the 1,250,000 annual westbound cars on highway 40, onto highway 20. Beecher added that by promoting and publicizing the advantages of Lake county, it was possible to raise the assessed valuation of that county from $7,000,000 in 1939 to $18,500,000 today with two-thirds of it attributed to travel promotion.

Bagshaw reported the nine counties of the Redwood empire contribute a total of $75,000 annually matched by business and community organizations for an annual budget of $150,000 to promote the Redwood empire. Bagshaw said supervisors of the area consider the appropriations "good business."

Lowrey attacked Director of Public Works Charles H. Purcell charging the present policy of the department of public works of "show me a traffic count and you'll get the highway" was laughable in that no road could show a traffic count under conditions that the state lets the road remain.

"You have to play politics to get roads," Lowrey said. "If you have no political pressure or influence you get no roads."

H. F. Sofge, secretary of the Nevada City chamber of commerce, represented this community at the gathering.

EMPIRE-STAR DECLARES DIVIDEND NOVEMBER 30

Directors of the Empire-Star Mining company, in a meeting at the New York headquarters of the organization have declared a dividend of 75 cents per share, payable Nov. 30 on all stock.

The company operates the Empire, Pennsylvania and North Star mines in Nevada county.

The dividend represents an increase from the 50 cents a share declared last year.

HOLLMER AND VALCESCHINI LEAD MINERS TO 19-0 GRID WHIPPING OF NEVADA CITY YELLOWJACKETS

There was no doubt of the superiority of the Nevada City representatives at the Armistice day contest between Nevada City and Grass Valley high school—during intermission when the drum majorettes corps performed. Even Grass Valley conceded that.

But for 24 minutes previous to the cavorting majorettes and for 24 minutes following—it was all Grass Valley as the Miners rolled to a 19-0 victory in the 46th renewal of the classic.

A brawny young lad named Chuck Hollmer ripped and tore a Yellowjacket line to shreds and when he got tired of that he ran around their ends. But the greatest exhibition he gave during the afternoon was his wizardry in the art of propelling pigskin by footpower. Four times he kicked-off for the Miners for an average of 48 yards and he averaged 26 yards with five punts, one of which was a 15 yard kick out of bounds on the 15 yard line. In fact Dick Penrose was only able to get his hands on one punt for a return. All other Miner punts went out of bounds. Three of Hollmer's kicks were in coffin corner, one a beauty for 40 yards to the 6-yard line.

Nevada City's line leaked like a sieve and Penrose was dropped for plenty of lost yardage trying to spot a receiver for his passes. He completed only two of 12 he was able to get away.

Nevada City fought valiantly but midway in the second period the Miners marched 65 yards for its first touchdown.

Fumbleitis by Yellowjackets gave Grass Valley further scoring opportunities but the Miners did not capitalize.

With a minute left in the half Pello was guilty of interference on Merrill's attempt to catch a pass from Cox and the Miners had first down on the Nevada City eight. Hollmer took it to the six-inch line and Painter carried it over. A Painter pass to Cox added the extra point and the half ended on the ensuing kickoff 13-0.

Penrose punted two minutes in the final quarter to Painter on the Grass Valley 45 and the fleet halfback raced 55 yards for the third and final touchdown.

Play by play description of the game:

First Quarter

Hollmer kickoff taken on 19 by Smithson returned to 28. Morrison around left end for one. Penrose off right tackle to 33, nullified Grass Valley offside and ball moved to 34. Penrose pass to Smithson incomplete. Penrose lost three.

Penrose punted to Hollmer on GV 30 returned to 35. Long pass by Hollmer incomplete. Nevada City penalized 15 yards for illegal use of hands, first down for GV on 50. Hollmer left guard for eight. Cox lost two. Hollmer off rick tackle for six, and first down on NC 38. Cox no gain around left end. Hollmer pass to Painter incomplete. Hollmer pass to Cox incomplete.

Hollmer punted out of bounds on NC 17. Merrill threw Morrison for nine yard loss. Penrose off right guard for 10. Penrose through right guard then cut to sidelines for 20 yards and first down on 38. Smithson off left tackle for six. Penrose lost a yard at right end. Penrose pass to Ellis incomplete.

Penrose punted to Hollmer on GV 22. Hollmer through left guard for 17 and first down on 39. Valceschini through center for 12 and first down on NC 49. Painter at center for four. Valceschini at right end for ½ yard. Hollmer at center for 4½ yards. Valceschini off right guard to 34 nullified by backfield in motion, ball on 44.

Hollmer punted out of bounds on NC 19. Penrose lost six as quarter ended. Score Grass Valley 0, Nevada City 0.

Second Quarter

Smithson slipped and lost one. Penrose off right tackle for six, backfield in motion penalty refused.

Penrose punted to Hollmer on 50, returned to NC 33. Valceschini off right guard for two. Hollmer off left tackle for two. Valceschini pass to Merrill incomplete. Valceschini pass to Hollmer incomplete NC taking over on downs on NC 29.

Penrose pass to Ellis incomplete. Penrose off right tackle for four. Penrose pass to Pello incomplete.

Penrose punted to GV 35, O'Leary returning to NC 39. Cox lost a yard at left end. Painter through center for 17 yards and first down on NC 44. Cox on a handoff into center for five. Hollmer reversed around right end for nine and first down on NC 30. Cox off left guard for one. Hollmer through left guard for 29 yards and a touchdown. Valceschini into center failed in try for extra point. Grass Valley 6, Nevada City 0.

Penrose took Hollmer's kickoff on 15 and returned 20 yards. Penrose lost six yards. Penrose pass intended for Ellis intercepted by Valceschini on NC 35 returned to 25.

Valcecshini at center for two. Valceschini passed to Hollmer on 8 for a first down. Valceschini on a handoff into center to two. Anderson recovered Valceschini fumble on three.

Smithson sneaked through center for one. Penrose punted out of bounds on NC 39.

Interference by Pello ruled on pass play from Cox to Merrill giving Miners first down on 13.

GRASS VALLEY VICTORY 31ST WIN IN 46 GAMES WITH YELLOWJACKETS

Grass Valley high school Miners 19-0 victory over the Nevada City Yellowjackets Armistice day on Hennessey field was the 31st Grass Valley victory in 46 recorded meets between the two schools.

Nevada City has walked off the field the victors nine times and six of the games ended in stalemate.

THE COST OF SANITATION

The cost of proper sanitation cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Rather the health of ourselves, our children and the public health should be the measure of the need or lack of need of a sanitary district.

Morgan Stewart, state health engineer, did not say the recent Nevada county polio epidemic was caused by contaminated water. But he did say that the waters of Wolf creek are contaminated. And he did say that the polio virus has been isolated from contaminated water. We all agree that our communities do not enjoy pure drinking water.

If a proper sanitation program will decrease disease in Nevada county, will prevent another polio epidemic, will lengthen the life span of our district's residents, will increase the economic status through less days absence from work by sickness—then a sanitation program is cheap whatever it might cost.

THE DYING INTEREST IN GOVERNMENT

It is a sad commentary of our day, when government is becoming more and more a part of our life, we are shying away from the RESPONSIBILITIES of representative government.

We listen to orators on Armistice and Memorial days revere our American political saint and his profession of "government of the people, by the people and for the people," and leave the meeting place with the words forgotten—all the time knowing we are losing "government by the people." We are allowing ourselves and knowingly so, to be ruled by government of interested pressures, government by professional lobbyism and government for the perpetuation of political dynasties.

We take little interest in our county and city governments—unless we want something. We care little for the actions and functions of our smaller political bodies—such as school and district boards.

"Politics," we say, "is for politicians. We're too busy earning livings, playing our games, concentrating on ourselves. Government bureaus won't listen to us, so why should we stir up anything?"

Why, indeed.

We are living under the threat of government bankruptcy with a public debit impossible of amortization.

We are living in a state that has seen a gimmicking promoter aspire to the governor's mansion and threaten to rule the state by preying upon the emotions of aging parents and grandparents.

We are living in a state where demogoguery and lobbyism can control the legislature and tell true representation of the people to go to hell.

We are living in a state full of county governments so stupidly floundering that none of us cares to admit he is a part of it.

We ourselves are to blame for the state of our state and nation. We are responsible for the condition.

We voted a paternal welfare state administration into the federal government because we haven't the courage and spirit and will to work to build our own individual welfare futures.

We vote in supervisors who piddle our road funds away in political patronage, who operate our counties with foggy inefficiency and prolonged procrastination, who administer our counties with prejudice, bias and discrimination.

And then we sit back and admire our handiwork, and condone our political incompetents by returning them to their maladminstrated offices.

We can't forgive or excuse ourselves by blaming our duly elected officers for their blunders. We put them there—we have the power to remove them or not return them to continue their bungling.

This nation was founded on the principle of representative government. We see our government being taken from us and placed into the hands of paternalistic, socialistic and despotic bureaucrats. AND THESE ARE NOT OUTSIDE FORCES at work changing our government. Our form of government is changing in Washington, in Sacramento and in the county seats because we aren't interested in government.

If the man that represents—in the board of supervisors, in the state legislature, in the halls of congress—isn't doing a proper job, it is because we aren't doing a proper job. If he is inept, corrupt, stupid—then we are inept, corrupt and stupid for keeping him there.

The smallest package in the world is the fellow that is all wrapped up in himself.

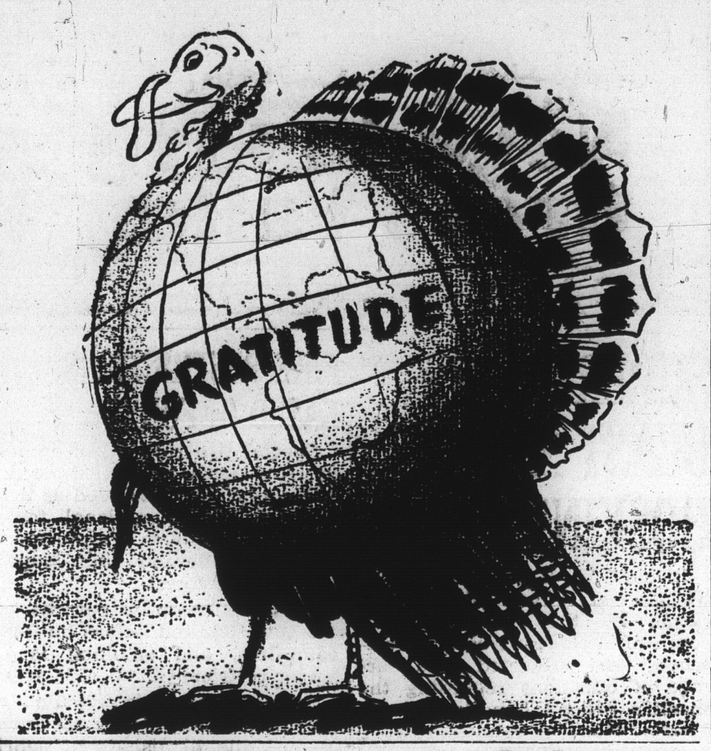
OUR THANKSGIVING TURKEY



Red Know-How 50 Years Behind U. S. Industries

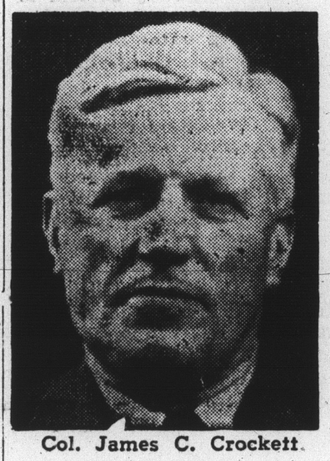
By JAMES C. CROCKETT, Col., U. S. A., Ret.

Copyright 1949, by The Nugget

Soviet economy is strong in natural resources and in the volume of war material it produces but compared with the United States or Great Britain it is clumsy and backward in its technical processes.

Insofar as human rights and happiness play a part in economy, the Soviet state is very weak.

The manager of a Russian enterprise must be a combined politician, judge and technical expert. These top men would not have their jobs if they did not belong to the Communist party. The little bosses must have strong Communist party supporters who can protect them from criticism.



Col. James C. Crockett.

Reports of the MVD secret police officer station at every plant and industrial enterprise, frequently cause the replacement, if not worse punishment of the bosses—high and low.

The manager of a large rubber tire plant complained bitterly because once a week an ice cream vendor came to the factory gate and rang a dinner bell. At this, the whole tire assembly line would quit work and dash out for ice cream. By the time the workers got back, 40 tires in process would be ruined and had to be scrapped.

The manager could not stop this work interruption because the ice cream vendor had the support of a big party man.

It is, however, the workers in Russia, not the managers who have most troubles.

I knew two families who worked in factories near Moscow and lived in apartments owned by the factories.

One family of four occupied a one-room apartment, size about 30x25 feet, sharing a kitchen, bath and hall with three other families. For this they paid 56 rubles ($6.72) per month. The man's pay was $60 per month, his wife's $48. After paying for food and rent there was less than $10 left over for all other purposes.

The second family earned a little more and had two rooms, each about 25x30 feet. The cost of this apartment is 84 rubles ($10.08) per month. After paying for rent and foods the father of this family had sufficient money to buy a suit of clothes and underwear every two years, a pair of shoes, a shirt and several pairs of socks each year, an overcoat and a pair of gollashes about every five years. He also could supply his wife and children with clothing on the same scale but luxuries of any kind were out of the question.

The worker can do nothing about his pay, for the state fixes all wage scales. Factory and office workers, according to the Soviet constitution, work six days a week and eight hours daily. They are entitled to paid holidays, but many workers told me there was constant pressure by the bosses and by the trade union to increase production.

Wages are based on a norm and extra pay above norms. As efficiency rises, the state raises the norms but does not change the rate for extra pay above norms. For example in 1947, norms in several industries were increased as much as 20 and 25 percent. The workers privately griped, yet could do nothing about it, because the laborers cannot strike and there is no collective bargaining. The trade unions, to which all workers must contribute monthly dues, are in reality organizations to speed up production, maintain discipline and furnish controls for laborers.

A laborer cannot get a job without a "propusk" issued by the police—a paper which shows previous places of employment, reasons and authorizations for quitting and other personal data. A working man cannot quit his job without the proper permission. Neither can he be absent nor late without proper excuse.

The plant manager in many industries and mines, acting as a judge, can try laborers and sentence them to forced labor in the MVD prison camps. The term of punishment depends on what disciplinary labor code is broken.

Where we use machinery, Russia often uses hand labor. For example few stores have a cash register. The amount due for purchases are figured on a wooden square which has wire strung with wooden balls across it. These crude machines are manipulated to add, subtract and multiply.

There are few labor saving devices such as electric irons, dishwashers, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, escalators, lawn mowers, corn shellers, taxicabs, belt conveyors, ditching machines, soap flakes, etc.

In the winter, the Moscow streets are kept as free of snow as the streets of northern cities in the United States. But no modern snow removal machinery is sued. Laborers, mostly women, shovel the snow into small wooden boxes which they carry to the street curb or a vacant lot and dump. Later it is sometimes shoveled into a truck and hauled away.

Many Russian manufacturing, mining and agricultural processes are old fashioned. For example on the collective farm where I lived for a few months, the wheat was threshed in a very inefficient way. The ends were first cut off the sheaves of wheat. The heads were then put into a small shelling machine which chopped them sufficiently to loosen the grain. The grain and chaff poured out of the machine onto a large tarpaulin on the ground. Then on the first windy day, women laborers with shovels would toss the wheat and chaff high into the air, and as the wind blew the chaff away, the wheat would fall on another tarpaulin. From this it would be shoveled into bags.

Despite the great amount of hand labor used, Russia is not so backward is know-how as many people think. She produces masses of excellent tanks, self propelled artillery, trucks, tractors, airplanes, rockets, small arms and other military equipment. She has also been able to produce the atom bomb.

She has constructed great works like the Dnieper dam and locks, the Moscow-Volga canal and locks, the Khinki port and the White Sea-Baltic canal. Russia also builds tools, engines and machinery of all kinds.

In doing these things, Russia has received much technical help from foreigners. I have talked with factory managers, mine bosses and agriculturists who have worked and studied in the United States. Marshal Federenko of the Soviet tank forces once told me that several of his tank experts had worked in Detroit motor plants; but he also claimed the Russian tanks were better than those of the United States. The present head of the Russian trade unions, Kuznetrov, told me he received his technical education in an American university. These are only a few of the Russians who have gotten their know-how in the United States.

Not so long ago Russia employed thousands of foreign engineers and technicians, and imported great quantities of foreign machinery and tools. But today she has a large corps of trained engineers and technicians; she has brought thousands of German technical experts to Russia as prisoners; and she no longer is dependent on foreigners for additional technical aid.

Soviet economy really is that of the Clausewitzian total state. It is geared to the war-making powers of the state and is organized primarily for war-making purposes. One of the ideas of the total state—often discussed in theory at the German war college, but never put into practical application by the German—was the distribution of food and industrial production in such a way as to create autonomous military areas within the state. These areas were to be economically and militarily strong enough to fight independently of each other.

This theory has become of particular significance in the light of the atom bomb and the increased destructive power of modern air and rocket warfare. Although the job is far from being completed, Russia has gone a long way in the organization of autonomous military areas.

The Moscow area has its industrial center in the regions of Moscow, Tula, Rybinsk and supports central European Russia, including the Baltic states and Belarussia. Its strategic objectives are in the direction of northern Europe and the Baltic sea.

The Donbass area has its industrial center in the region of the Donetz river, Krwoi Rog, Zaporozhe and supports southern Russia including Ukrainia and the Caucausus. Its strategic objectives are in th direction of South Europe and western Iran.

The Magnitogorsk area has its industrial center in the region of Magnitogorsk, Sverdlovsk, Ufa, Karaganda, and supports western Kazakhstan, Turkestan, and Uzbek. Its strategic objectives are in the direction of eastern Iran and India.

The Kuzbas area has its industrial center in the region of the Kuznetsk basin, Stalinsk, Novoribersk, Orsk and supports eastern Kazakhstan and Kirgiz. Its strategic objectives are in the direction of Sinkiang and central China.

The Angora area has its industrial center in the region of Irkutsk, Kansk, Cheremkhov, and the Tungau valley and near which the Soviets lately claimed to have used its atomic explosives, supports the Far East. Its strategic objectives are in the direction of Manchuria and Alaska.

The Pechora area, least developed of any, has its planned industrial center in the region of Kotlas-Vorkuta and will support western Arctic Russia, the Karelo and Murmansk areas. Its strategic objectives are in the direction of the Scandinavian peninsula and Barents sea.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder when we offer thanks
For blessings that make glad our days,
And lift our eyes to heaven above,
In earnest gratitude and praise,
If earnest reservations haunt our minds,
And thoughts steal in that make us sad,
There are so many, many things
For which we are not glad.

Thanksgiving Day is at our doors and once again, as in years now gone, we recount our blessings and lift our hearts in gratitude for the gifts with which the days have favored us.

We are indeed thanksful for our homes, our dear ones, our beautiful America, our flag and the free air of heaven upon which it floats. We boast of our advantages, our schools, our churches, our laws and the constitution which guarantees to us the way of life to which we were born. We find no difficulty in expressing our gratitude for these gifts, so many of which are denied to those of other lands, but there are some things which have come to us and to our land for which we would not dare to offer thanks.

We cannot, for instance, offer thanks for our increasing stocks of atomic bombs, for our bigger and better bombing planes, for greater and more effective secret weapons of death and destruction.

We feel no true sense of joy or satisfaction when we reflect that the minds of our cleverest scientists are engaged in perfecting poison gases and other mysterious death dealing methods of warfare and adding to the efficiency with which our armies may in the future go forth to slaughter our fellow humans and fill the world with unthinkable terrors. For these things we do not give thanks upon the day set aside for the purpose of recounting our blessings and our gifts of grace and beauty.

Poor old world, it has suffered much at the hands of its curious creature, man; but if the time has come when this same curious creature can no longer give thanks for his powers to kill and devastate, perhaps the soul of the world is being in a measure projected on its way.

I Wonder at the aptitude with which some people give expression to the common touch; the grace and dignity with which they walk among their fellow men.

This ability to preserve the common touch must be an attribute of greatness at least it is demonstrated very frequently by those whom we call great.

A well known Negro educator was walking down a street of New York on a hot summer day. He was carrying two suitcases, heavily packed with books and manuscripts. A young man stepped up beside him and smilingly offered to carry part of the heavy burden. The Negro was reluctant to accept the service, but one of the heavy suitcases had already been taken from his hand and so the two men walked along side by side talking like men and brothers. "And, that," said Booker T. Washington, whenever in after days he related the incident, "was the first time I ever met Teddy Roosevelt."

Just the common touch which makes all men kin; indeed it is a grace for which we all might pray. To be able to walk softly among the hearts of men, to acknowledge the sovereignty of every living soul, to evaluate a man for what he is and not by his race or creed or color, to look not up to the great, nor down upon the lowly—yes, we can safely pray for such a gift as this.

So—let us pray.

Colfax Woman Describes Iris Plants at Garden Club Meeting at Sofge Home

The home of Mrs. H. F. Sofge on Prospect street was the scene of last week's meeting of the Nevada City Garden club.

Mrs. Eileen Mitchell, Colfax, member of the American Iris society, and organizer of the Colfax Garden club, was the guest speaker. She gave a highly interesting and instructive talk on iris and related flowers. Plants can be chosen to bloom all year and they do well in moist and dry soils, needing to be changed only at three year intervals, she said. She has 140 varieties of iris.

Mrs. Mitchell was accompanied by Mrs. William Estrem, president of the Colfax Garden club.

Mrs. Emily Kyler and Mrs. Bernice Norton assisted Mrs. Sofge in her hostessing. Delicious refreshments were served from beautifully appointed tables.

Mrs. Frances Burton arranged the program for the day. Each guest was presented a lovely typed verse on flowers for her own collection.

Mrs. Beatrice Renfree, president of the club, was in charge of the business meeting.

Thursday, Dec. 8, the club will hold a workshop on Christmas decorations at Seaman's lodge under the direction of Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Renfree.

Rose French Honored At Bridal Shower

Mrs. Charles Montanari and Mrs. Charles Hilpert were cohostesses for a bridal shower Wednesday evening, last week, honoring Rose French who exchanged marriage vows Sunday with George Campbell.

The gifts were presented the bride-to-be under the traditional umbrella. Decorations followed the bridal theme.

The couple, both well known here, were married in Reno where the groom is in the grocery business.

Those attending the shower included Mrs. Ernest Young, Mrs. Allen Clapp, Mrs. Howard Jones, Mrs. William Gibson, Mrs. Onda Smith, Mrs. John Rankin, Mrs. Walter Russell, Mrs. Clifford Jacobsen, Mrs. C. N. Kerrin, Mrs. Milton Anderson, Mrs. Chet Murschel, Mrs. Frank Stewart and Mrs. Mosco Smart.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were Mrs. Bud Percy, Mrs. Louis Moran, Mrs. Michael Lawlor, Mrs. Margaret McDonald and Mrs. Ethel Conrad.

Gold Flat PTA Enjoys Old Clothes Party

Oakland elementary school in Gold Flat was the scene of a recent pot-luck dinner and old clothes party for the reorganized Gold Flat Parent Teachers association.

Four large tables were covered with delicious hot dishes, salads, desserts and drinks. As one small boy said, "You can just feast and feast and feast at this party" and most of the crowd did.

Mrs. Robert Michell, president, introduced Dow Alexander, who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening.

First and second grades rooms, Mrs. Julia Peterson, teacher, was announced as the winner of the membership drive.

Prizes were given to the largsst family present, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans and four children; for wearing the oldest clothes, Mr. and Mrs. Peterson; Mrs. White for being the only grandmother present; and John Hubbard the one grandfather in the gathering.

A quiz game followed with the mothers and daughters pitted against fathers and sons. The distaff side won.

Sherman Hanley Honored On Birthday Anniversary

Fellow pupils of the Gold Flat elementary school complimented Sherman Hanley on his tenth anniversary Monday at the Gold Flat school.

Ice cream and cake highlighted the party. The cake, covered with chocolate frosting and inscribed "Happy Birthday" was baked by Mrs. Jake Schram.

Thomas Farney's upper grade classes presented Shesman with a book, "California's Stepping Stones."

His classmates in Mrs. Dow Alexander's room presented him with gifts.

Amazon Dance Tonight Winds Up Twirp Week

The Amazon dance tonight in the Nevada City high school gym will climax this current week of Twirp season, according to Miss Joan Oje, chairman of the Girls' League committee in charge of the week.

The theme of the sport dance is "Shine On, Harvest Moon," and the festivities are slated to start at 8:30 o'clock and wind up at 11:30.

The high school band will furnish the music.

100 Couples Enjoy Mr. And Mrs. Club Dance

More than one hundred Nevada City and Grass Valley couples, members of the Mr. and Mrs. Club, attended the "Football Scrimmage" held at the Elks club in Grass Valley Saturday night.

Large goal posts and colorful school pennants and banners furnished the college and football theme on the dance floor while the same motif in the form of tiny goal posts on each table was carried to the "spaghetti and garlic bread" supper served late in the evening.

Sport dress was the approved attire for the occasion.

A "march waltz" with frequent exchange of partners was a feature of the dancing. Music was furnished by Jerry Austin and his band.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stinson were chairmen of the affair.

They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Kent Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Trathen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tamblyn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McPhee, Mr. and Mrs. William Frye, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Viles, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Hannon, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Jasperson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tremewan, Mr. and Mrs. James Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kalis, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richards, formerly of Grass Valley, and now of Sacramento also served on the committee.

Mrs. Lyman Bock Feted At Stork Shower Nov. 4

Mrs. Lyman Bock was the honored guest at a stork shower held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Roberts on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway Friday, Nov. 4. Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Leonard Schaffer were cohostesses for the affair.

Presentation of dainty gifts in a bassinet was the high spot of the occasion. Guests enjoyed canasta, bingo and pokeno with prizes being given for the high scores.

Guests present included Mrs. E. Luzzoor Jr., Mrs. John Luzzmoor Sr., Mrs. Charley Mendoca, Mrs. Fern Richards, Mrs. John Lynn, Mrs. Nobel McCormack, Mrs. Erma Ryson, Mrs. Troyce Musick, Mrs. Clarence Jenkins, Miss Marjory Mendoca, Miss Jackie Miller, Mrs. Ruby Weeks, Mrs. Margaret Foster, Mrs. Bessie Jordan, Mrs. Clarence Kinney and Mrs. John Mlinarich, mother of the guest of honor.

Several beautiful gifts were received from friends invited who could not attend.

Trinity Card Party at Elks Club Successful

The card party sponsored by the vestry of Trinity Episcopal church at the Elks club Saturday was attended by a capacity crowd according to Mrs. Elsie Siegfried, party chairman.

She reported the cake sale held in conjunction with the affair was a success with all cakes being sold early in the evening.

Whist, canasta, auction and contract bridge and pedro were among the card games played with prizes awarded in all games.

Mrs. Siegfried expressed appreciation to the public for its support and thanked all those whose work helped make the event a success.

Proceeds derived will be divided between the organ fund and operating budget according to Rev. Max Christensen, rector of the church.

Ladies' Auxiliary Feed Fire Laddy Husbands

Ladies' Auxiliary of the Nevada City Fire Department entertained husbands and families at a pot-luck dinner at Seaman's lodge Saturday evening.

YELLOWJACKET BUZZINGS

By DARLEEN CROWLEY

NEWS OF NEVADA CITY HIGH SCHOOL

What's Cooking' in Homemaking

Well, not much is cooking, but there's plenty of sewing going on in Homemaking I class. With the girls hurrying as fast as they can to finish their aprons so they can get started on the making of clothes for the doll donated by E. Gallagher of the Save-More variety store.

And from what I've heard that doll is going to have one of the prettiest wardrobes that anyone has ever seen. There's going to be dresses, coats, hats, slacks and many many other things too numerous to mention.

So keep watching the window of the Save-More Variety and one of these days in the next two weeks, you'll start seeing some of these outsanding creations.

Big Thanks

A great big thanks to the journalism class for the swell job it did on handling by "Yellowjacket Buzzings" last week.

As you all know, the journalism class of the high school headed by Mrs Margaret tSevens, took over The Nugget last week and did all the writing and reporting for it.

They did a wonderful job and I think it's wonderful for Robert and Donald Wray, publishers, and Kenneth Wray, editor, to let the journalism class have a big opportunity like that.

The Big Game

At long last I'm getting around to the Armistice day game last Friday and this makes me admit that the Yellowjackets lost 19-0 to the Grass Valley Miners. There was a very large crowd and Nevada City really made a magnificent showing.

But Grass Valley got all the breaks. But the Yellowjackets have to give Grass Valley a big break once in a while, so they did. But come next year it will be the Yellowjackets turn and watch them shine.

Amazon Doings

Amazon week ends tonight in a big bang with one of the biggest and best dances ever to be given in the high school auditorium for a long time. It sure did seem funny seeing the girls taking over the boys' responsibilities for a whole week. But all in all, Amazon week was swell and everyone is looking forward to the time when they can do it again.

Girls' League Meets

Yesterday Joan Oje, president of the Girls' League called a special meeting to discuss the Amazon dance for tonight and also to tell the girls she had arranged to get Girls' League pins at Berggren's jewelry store for $2.10. The order is supposed to be placed by Wednesday.

Crafts Class News

Warren Immel, teacher of craft at the high school, informed his class that after Thanksgiving vacation it would begin making "beauty birds." The school purchased five kits with each kit containing enough material to make 12 birds.

Christmas Vacation

It was announced yesterday the school would be dismissed Dec. 21 instead of Dec. 16, and would begin Jan. 3.

THEATER WILL BORROW WATER FROM CITY MAIN FOR AIR CONDITIONING

Water for the use of an air conditioning unit for Cedar theater will be "borrowed" from the city main in a plan proposed by Herb Hallett, director of city public works, before the city council at an adjourned session Thursday of last week at city hall.

Water for the air conditioning unit will be pumped from the city main, through stainless steel pipe, and returned to the main without loss, said Hallett. He added any change in the temperature of the water while in the air conditioning unit will be very slight.

The council set a rate of $4 a month for useable water and a $24 annual service charge for the water "borrowed" for the cooling system.

Hallett and Councilman H. F. Sofge were authorized to bid up to $1,200 for a state truck with snow plow attachment offered for sale in Sacramento. Hallett and Sofge went to Sacramento Monday, examined the truck and offered $1,100. Tuesday the city was notified the offer was accepted and the vehicle will be received this week. Hallett said the snow plow has a reversible wing plow and hydraulic dump body which will give it all year around usefulness.

George H. Calanan, city clerk, cautioned the council on its expenditures for the balance of the fiscal year. Calanan reported the city had spent $53,745.24 this fiscal year compared to $39,020.80 for the same period last year.

"From Dec. 1, 1948, to June 30, 1949, the city spent $45,981.90," he continued, "And if the same amount is spent this year, total city expenditures for this fiscal year will be $99,724.14."

Calanan said this was the "spendingest" council he could ever recall.

Calanan was very pessimistic about the city spending less or equal to what was spent last year stating there are seven men employed, compafed to five last year.

Councilman Thomas F. Taylor asked City Attorney John Larue for an interpretation of McQuillan's Municipal Corporations text and the rules of order governing city council procedure.

Taylor suggested a summary or handbook of rules be prepared and made available to prevent a recurrence of a recent meeting wherein Mayor A. B. Innis's second to a motion to confine duties of Max Solaro to driving the fire truck was challenged. The mayor has been deprived of a vote before, Taylor said.

It was the only reference to the touchy subject of Solaro's combined duties as chief of police and fire truck driver which was expected to recur at Thursday's meeting.

John A. Carolla, Phoenix, Ariz., representative of Herman, Ferguson and Carolla, engineering firm of the Arizona capital, is expected here this weekend and is to confer with the council to discuss plans and estimated costs of a proposed sewage disposal plant.

Calanan estimated the sewage disposal plant will cost in the neighborhood of $125,000.

The city has $14,000 in government bonds to apply to the plant and the state will grant $29,000 provided construction is completed before 1951.

The balance would be raised by a bond issue.

Following a discussion about the leaky roof of the city hall the council adjourned until call of the mayor this weekend.

BERT CLAUSEN BURNS TO DEATH AS HOME IS DESTROYED SUNDAY

Bert Clausen, 47, was burned to death early Sunday morning in a fire that completely destroyed the home of his sister, Mrs. Phyllis Bluxome, Reward street.

Clausen lived in a small house back of the Bluxome home but had been staying in his sister's home while she was in Los Angeles.

When firemen arrived the entire house was ablaze, and although asbestos clad fire fighters made several attempts to enter the blazing house they were unsuccessful.

Max Solaro estimated the fire had been burning at least half an hour when the alarm was received at 4:05 a.m.

Coroner Alvah Hooper said a hole in the skull of the corpse at first led authorities to investigate the possibilities of foul play but further examination indicated intense heat caused the hole. The body, burned beyond recognition, was identified from description of dental work.

Besides his sister, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Emma Bertha Towne, a patient at Nevada City Sanitarium; and three children, Barbara, Lorraine and Charles, attending school in Richmond.

Damage to the home is estimated at $6.000 of which $4,000 was covered by insurance carried by Presley insurance agency. Adjusters from Sacramento were here Monday and announced full payment of the insurance will be made.

Funeral services were held at Holmes Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon. Cremation was in Sierra View, Marysville.

STATE HEALTH OFFICER SUPPORTS ALTA-GLEN SANITARY DISTRICT

Sanitation and sewage disposal is critical in the area of the proposed Alta-Glen Ridge sanitary district, according to Morgan E. Stewart, assistant sanitary engineer of the state department of public health, when he appeared before a hearing on the proposed district Monday morning held by the board of superbisors.

Stewart said tests made by the department found Wolf creek to be highly contaminated and even near its source. The condition endangers the health of residents of the area it drains including Grass Valley.

He recalled the polio epidemic of August and September and declared polio virus has been isolated in contaminated water and he stressed that Wolf creek is definitely contaminated.

Stewart said the greatest hazard to drinking water comes from sewage drainage from houses at a higher elevation than the NID ditch which carries water into Grass Valley. While taking tests in the area it was found that four houses above the ditch had sewage flowing on top of the ground and in times of heavy rain this sewage would flow into the ditch.

Neither city purifies its water and even if it did the people certainly would not want to drink water into which sewage has entered, Stewart continued.

Stewart said that inquiries in other districts have shown that a community sewage system is economically cheaper than septic tanks.

Stewart pointed out the irrigation district is not required by law to purify its water.

After a heated argument between the district's proponents and opponents had wasted an hour's time of the board Supervisors Frank J. Rowe and Carl J. Tobiassen asked Chairman Warren Odell to have the groups depart and iron out their differences in private.

The board set Wednesday, Dec. 21, at 10 a.m., as the date for final hearing on the proposed sanitary district.

CONGRESSMAN ENGLE SAYS NATION'S NEED DECIDES UNIFICATION

"The basic problem of the current unification squabble between the armed services is not the desirability of unification itself, or a fight for appropriations, but that of what theory or philosophy of carrying on a war should be followed—which will assure the maximum protection to the people of the United States," said Congressman Clair Engle, district representative in an Armistice day address Friday morning at the Veterans Memorial building, Grass Valley.

Engle urged military preparedness as the best approach to the unsettled world conditions of today.

Engle's speech was the highlight of the memorial services of the day.

Other speakers were Elmer Stevens and Marvin Kitts.

The parade, one of the most colorful of recent years, was viewed by the smallest group of spectators in the parade's history.

Bands of the Nevada City and Grass Valley high school, American Legion drum and bugle corps led by Ed Fellersen, veterans of both World wars, the Spanish war, and auxiliaries, Brownie and Boy Scouts, school traffic patrol, and Gold Trail Riders formed the marching units of the parade.

A turkey dinner and an Armistice day speech by Steven Baroonshian, history instructor at Placer college, Auburn, completed the day's program.

Commander John 'Bunch was in charge of the evening dinner. The repast was prepared and served by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. Peter Daley.

CHARTER DAUGHTER OF GOLDEN WEST BURIED

Funeral services were held on Thursday, last week, for Mrs. Hannah M. Grimes, native of Nevada City, and charter member of Laurel Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, at the Holmes Funeral Home, Father William Daly, pastor of St. Canice church, officiating. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

She died Nov. 5 in Phoenix, Ariz.

Surviving are two sons, Atherton K. Grimes and Austin Grimes of Phoenix; three sisters, Grace Keenan, Mabel Keenan and Maude Keenan, all of Nevada City; and a cousin, Frank Maher, also of Nevada City.

Christian Science Church

Christian Science Society of Nevada City holds services every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the church, 114 Boulder street. Sunday School is held at 9:45 a.m.

Testimonial meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 8 p.m.

Our reading room is located at 207 Main street, and is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, holidays excepted, from 2 to 4 p.m.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Christian Science lesson-sermon for Sunday, Nov. 20, with golden text taken from Psalms: "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God" (84:2).

The following citations are among those which will comprise the sermon:

The Bible: "For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself" (Philippians 3:20, 21).

"Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite—in order that sin and mortality may be put off. This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace" (p. 265).

An inspiring occasion Thursday morning will be the Thanksgiving day service held by Christian Science society at 114 Boulder.

Departing from the custom of many churches in holding joint services on Thanksgiving day, each Christian Science church enthusiastically holds its own service that day, and the congregations are unusually large. The service differs in many ways from both the Sunday service and the Wednesday evening meeting, and, as at the latter, the collection is omitted.

GOLD TEAM WINS GOLD FLAT BOWL GRID GAME

The Gold team of the Gold Flat school, captained by Jerry Jinson, won the intramural touch tackle football tournament yesterday 20-15 in what was termed the Gold Flat Bowl game.

The losing Blue team was captained by Randy Gray and the games were under the direction of Principal Thomas N. Farney.

A total of 15 games were contested with the Gold team winning eight.

Letters will be presented today to each player. The PTA furnished the blue and gold felt material and the letters were made by upper grade class members.

Cheer leaders are Beverley Jamerson, Martha March and Suzie Setzer.

JOHH T. TRAUNER IS NEW DEPUTY CLERK

John T. (Tommy) Trauner has been appointed court deputy clerk filling the vacancy resulting by the recent death of Russell Wilson, according to an announcement by Ralph E. Deeble, county clerk.

Deeble at the same time announced elevation of Miss Rita Hutchison to chief deputy in his office. Miss Hutchison has been employed in the office since 1941.

Mrs. Jean Rowe Keeny completes the permanent staff of the county clerk's office.

Trauner, married, and a resident of Grass Valley, has been in administrative activities of the California National Guard in this area, and previous to that he was employed by the Mountail Oil company, Grass Valley.

CHARTER MEMBER OF BAPTIST CHURCH BURIED

Funeral services were conducted Thursday, last week, in Colfax, for Mrs. Belle Z. Dosh, 80, charter member of Community Baptist church, Nevada City. Interment was in Colfax cemetery. Mrs. Dosh died Monday, Nov. 7, at the Nevada county hospital.

A native of Iowa, Mrs. Dosh had been a resident of California for 59 years, dividing her residence at North San Juan, Colfax and here since 1939.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Verna Wiegman and Fay Dancer, both of Colfax and three grandchildren.

Rev. John MacDonald, pastor of the local Baptist church, was in charge of the services held at the West mortuary in Colfax.

MRS. DORIS FOLEY TELLS HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF BREAK OF ENGLISH DAM

Nevada County Historical Society heard Mrs. Doris Foley, vice president of the group and author of a recent publication in the California Historical society review, "The Flood of 1883 on the Middle Yuba."

Mrs. Foley described in vivid manner the break of the old English dam on the morning of June 18, 1883, and from the records traced its course of destruction to human life and property. Her presentation was scholarly and highly entertaining.

Elmer Stevens, president, asked for a financial report from Secretary Junies Chase and then gave his annual report on activities of the group.

Over 3,000 people had visited the historical museum in Nevada City from May to September and Stevens expressed appreciation to Mrs. Martha Dillon, curator.

Included in the report was a caravan trip lead by Robert Paine in the spring; the construction and erection of 78 historical markers; addition to the library shelves of both communities — Grass Valley and Nevada City and publication of a monthly pamphlet.

"The society," Stevens said, "has worked hard to erect the markers and would appreciate the cooperation of the public in protecting them." He deplored the fact that several were taken down in the Nevada City area during Halloween.

"Very few historical societies in California have been so active as Nevada county's and the work is valuable in publicizing the county," he pointed out.

A nominating committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Foley, Mattie Luther, Elizabeth Garland, Genevieve Kent, Juliet Cox, G. T. Tennis and George Leeg, to draw up a slate of officers for the year 1950.

The next meeting will feature the Nuggeteers in "California in Song and Dance," a repeat performance of the brilliant and colorful program presented in Nevada City last March. This will be given at the Hennessey building, Grass Valley, on Monday, Dec. 5.

WILLIAM WASLEY, SR., IS INTERRED SATURDAY

Funeral services for William Wasley, Sr., 73, were held Saturday afternoon at Holmes Funeral Home, Rev. Max L. Christensen, rector of Trinity Episcopal church officiating. Interment was in the Forest View cemetery.

Wasley died early Friday at Miners hospital from a self-inflicted gun shot wound. The shooting occurred Thursday evening in the basement of his home near Town Talk. Wasley had been in ill health.

Wasley was born March 17, 1876, in Grass Valley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wasley. He was educated in Grass Valley.

For many years he had farmed in the Gold Flat district and previous to that he had worked as a miner throughout Nevada and northern California.

Wasley was a member of the Owls and the Mine Workers Protective league.

Surviving are his wife, Kate; sons, William Jr., Howard and Thomas, all of Nevada City; Cecil, George and Loren, Grass Valley; and Edgar, attending a naval school in Tennessee; and daughter, Mrs. Lillian Valceschini, also of Grass Valley; fourteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild. One son, Gus, was killed in World war II.

NEVADA CITY FINISHES SECOND D BASKETBALL

BONNER'S BEES BOW TO GRASS VALLEY 12-0

Bob Bonner's junior varsity of Nevada City high school bowed to Grass Valley Monday afternoon 12-0 in a game where the local boys finally found themselves and played a great game.

Bonner said he will have 19 of them back for next year and he expects a great season.

The Nevada City boys were in scoring territory several times in the game but were unable to put it into the end zone.

Grass Valley scored in the first quarter with a long pass setting up the pay-off. The pass was good for a first down on the 8 and three plays were required before Grass Valley shoved it over the line.

Grass Valley's second touchdown was scored on a blocked kick that rolled into the endzone. Nevada City held for downs on the three-yard line. On the first play, a punt was blocked.

FRED SEARLS CREDITED FOR FORCING PROGRESS ON NAVAL BRASS HATS

Drew Pearson, famous or infamous newspaper columnist, depending on your viewpoint, credits Fred Searls, Nevada City, for forcing the admirals of the U. S. navy to adopt the British anti-submarine device in the early years of the war, and which finally beat the German underwater sea war.

One year after Pearl Harbor, Nazi U-boats were sinking a millions tons of allied shipping each month. The navy had not yet devised anything to combat or counteract this phase of the war. The Newmont Mining company president, as a member of the war production board, learned of the British anti-submarine detection device which enabled undersea bombings to destroy subs.

Not until Searls threatened to have all merchant marine vessels equipped with the device did the admirals recommend it for naval vessels and convoy guards.

Pearson revealed the admirals' stubbornness in a recent series stemming from the naval fight against unification of the armed forces.

JUVENILE PROTECTION

Bob Bonner, juvenile protection chairman of Nevada City Parent Teachers association, Rev. Max Christensen, rector of Trinity Episcopal church; Frank G. Finnegan, attorney; and Lloyd Geist, principal of Nevada City elementary school, discussed juvenile protection last night on radio station KGFN.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

By Clayre S. Lipman

JUDGE JAMES SNELL

You can switch horses in midstream—James Snell did just that and became superior court judge of his favorite county.

Born of poor Cornish immigrant parents in Virginia City when silver still was king. Educated in Nevada county at the Oakland school and the Nevada City high school. Lives at the historic Snell homestead on Gold Flat. Though his father wanted him to be a teacher, young Jim spent five years in the mines and figured to become an engineer.

Worked in the Copper Queen, Calumet, Eureka in Arizona; Mt. Bullion in Mariposa; Rawhide in Tuolumne; Sultana at Angel's

Camp; Republic mine, British Columbia; Cannanea in Mexico.

Brother called his wacky when he started reading law late into the night. "Stick to mining, bud; where'll you get the education for a lawyer?" Jim got it—from books! Like Lincoln, who studied law by lamplight, he educated and polished himself. Came the awful three-day bar examination. Self-taught, he competed with university trained would-be's and passed. Was admitted to the bar in 1909.

Began practice in Grass Valley. Was assistant district attorney of San Benito county. A crank for careful preparation of his cases, he never lost one during four years of prosecuting. Was assistant district attorney of Nevada county under colorful Frank M. Rutherford.

He knew successful years of practice through patient understanding work for clients and friends. Ran for office when Judge George L. Jones retired—was elected and started his duties as judge of the superior court of Nevada county on Jan. 6, 1947.

The judge's wife is a Cornish girl, the former Emma Nankerveris. Three of their children followed grandfather's wishes and became school teachers, while another son is now practicing law in Fresno.

Square built, cane carrying Judge Jim likes people, loves kids . . . believes man's worst enemy is complacency. Keep going, keep reaching out, keep progressing . . . Admires those who get out and do things regardless of final success. Can't always win, he says, but we can always try . . .

USO CAMPAIGN HOPES TO WIND UP THIS WEEK

Winding up a campaign to raise $355 for the USO budget by tomorrow is the hope of Nevada City Chairman Lloyd Geist.

Asking the cooperation of the town people Geist said "The USO reactivated by request of President Truman, serves nearly two million soldiers, sailors and airmen in this country and abroad. It provides them with health and welfare services, with spiritual and recreational benefits. It finances shows and other entertainment for more than 100,000 patients in 120 military hospitals. It carries on many additional activities on behalf of young men and women in uniform."

Contributions may be turned in to Albert Keeny, finance chairman, at the Nevada City branch of the Bank of America.

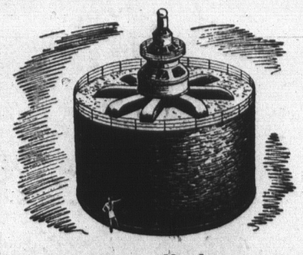
She sewed a dress for ½ cent's worth of electricity

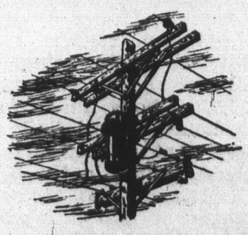
One of the many reasons why it's good to live in California is the high standard of electrical living. Californians buy and use many electrical servants without stint because the electricity to run them costs so little. For example, the electricity to operate a sewing machine to sew up a dress costs only half a penny—that is less than the price of the thread used. Your electricity bargain is hard to beat.

For the handy man and his hobby and repair shop, small electric motors help do a better job at less monthly cost than the price of a bottle of liniment. A lot-sized hedge, for instance, can be trimmed electrically for about 50 cents a year.



Behind the wall plug where you get the electricity to run a sewing machine, radio or clock, is a vast electric system of 72 power plants, scores of substations, 49,900 miles of transmission and distribution lines and almost 17,000 employees.

For the record



The poles, transformers and wires in your community are pieces of local property. They are taxed just like your own house and lot. In your city and county, P. G. and E. is one of the largest taxpayers contributing to local schools and government.

P.G. and E. Service—does so much...costs so little is no detailed manual of instructions for the school staff to follow, it would be well to build such. The board can assist greatly in this task by issuing as separate directives matters pertaining to the school funds. The school administrators can be required to keep a permanent file of such directives. From time to time the board should make decisions and embody such in the directives. In a relative short time the principal problems will have been decided and all will know the proper course to be followed.

"2. It would be best for the teachers to have a special bank account of their own to take care of any disbursements that are strictly teachers' affairs. This will save any criticism of the teachers which might result from their passing their monies through the student body bank account.

"3. There appears to be situations arising in which the school administrators must have immediate cash to meet emergencies. In the past borrowings have been made from the student body funds for such purposes. The school board should discuss this problem with the administrators and find some constructive solution. Under no circumstances should teachers be left with a situation on their hands which will result in their being torn asunder regardless of which way they turn. If borrowings are to be made from the student body funds, or if some other plan is to be followed, let the school board take the responsibility by issuing a directive to the administrators, stating definitely the course to be pursued.

"4. As to the signing of checks it is very questionable whether any value lies in having this done by students. Certainly children in grammar school are not prepared to take any such responsibility. There would be wisdom in having two signatures on all checks; however let it be done by those who are capable of assuming the obligation implied.

"5. These four enterprises involve the peculiar situation that minors are concerned, mere children in the case of the elementary school. Before issuing any directives as to retail procedures to be followed in handling monies by the schools the board should canvass with the administrators the problems involved and also seek legal advice. Very embarrassing situations may arise otherwise.

"6. Study should be given to the need of fidelity bonds. It may be a blanket bond covering all parties would be advisable. Competent advice should be obtained before proceeding.

"7. It should be a definite requirement that all disbursements will be authorized by the proper parties. The present system of purchase orders and payment vouchers in use at the high school should be strictly followed. Carefully kept files of all invoices should be maintained. Disbursements should not be made until the invoices are presented with the payment vouchers properly signed, which signing should be taken more seriously than it has been in the past. The same requirements should apply to the elementary school, but modified to fit the situation.

"8 Considerable attention needs to be given to establishing control over receipts. At the high school this is especially needed. There should be a definite internal control established so it will be possible to verify the ticket sales for games with the amount of collections. Someone should be made accountable for a certain number of tickets before ticket sales begin. After sales are over unused tickets and cash turned in should equal the tickets previously placed in the hands of the ticket seller. Without going into further detail the same principle applies to all other sales and receipts in which someone should be accountable. Unless attention is given to such matters at an early date, no bookkeeping system will cure the ills now existing in student body fund affairs.

"9. It should be a definite requirement that all receipts are promptly deposited in the bank. The school board has access to competent legal counsel. It would be well to request an opinion regarding the applicability in this matter of the public deposit act and similar enactments.

"10. Should occasion arise for the purchase or sale of war surplus goods in the future, it will be best for the school board to give individual authorization for each purchase or sale. The board has an obligation to protect the schools from embarrassment in this matter. War surplus sales and purchases are quite loose affairs throughout the country; the school personnel should not become involved in any unsavory situations. (This refers to purchase of two vehicles from war surplus by student body funds and then transferring of ownership to personal parties by nonprofit purchases from school district).

"During the course of this examination the auditor has met various and sundry rumors regarding gross mismanagement of the funds under consideration. This state of affairs is most unfortunate. It presents a challenge to the school board, the parents and the citizenry as a whole. Granted that your teachers may not always have exercised the wisdom of a Solomon, the recent gossip campaign, most of which is wholly groundless, has done very definite damage to the schools. The children and young people are the ultimate sufferers. Those having the best interests of the youth at heart should band together to squelch the evil thing. Where remedies are needed, let them be applied by wise physicians; your teachers stand ready to cooperate—so they have assured the auditor."

The board accepted Hartman's report and voted to take out fidelity bonds. Clerk Miles D. Coughlin was instructed to write bonding companies for information.

The board selected Leonard Foote from a field of six applicants for the post of janitor for the district at a salary of $215 a month. He will replace Ned Smith who is retiring Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Coughlin was instructed to correspond with Mrs. Walter Casner, who wanted to rent the You Bet schoolhouse as a dwelling unit. The board explained the building cannot be leased and the Casner family will be required to vacate the building.

The board approved purchase of 10 sets of rain coats and hats, 16 Sam Browne belts and nine traffic signs for the elementary school traffic patrol.

The board will ask for bids for painting two rooms of the elementary school building during the Thanksgiving vacation week.

The board approved Christmas vacation week from Saturday, Dec. 17, through Jan. 1, inclusive. School year was extended a week in June to permit the extra week of Chirstmas vacation.

The board approved a request by Keith Macdonald, representing Nevada City Lions club, that school children be permitted to attend a show "The Great Virgil" Friday, Dec., 2:30 p.m., at the Memorial auditorium, Grass Valley. Proceeds of the show will assist in financing girl scout program of summer camping.

The board gave official permission for use of the high school gymnasium for Wednesday night games of the Twin Cities Basketball league.

Following a discussion of purchasing supplies at home, the administrators were instructed to continue purchasing under the present status and report in two months giving data of costs and freight for comparison with home purchasing.

The board approved repairing of the high school furnace during Thanksgiving vacation.

COMMITTEE FAVORS SITE NEAR HOSPITAL FOR DETENTION HOME

County-owned property located just beyond the Nevada county hospital offers the best possibility for a detention home a committee of five decided Tuesday and will recommend it to the board of supervisors.

Members of the committee are Supervisors Warren Odell and Carl J. Tobiassen, Jack E. Keegan, county probation committee; and Mrs. Frieda Becraft and Mrs Marie Williford, county grand jury.

One advantage of the proposed site, the committee agreed, was the solution of a possible procurement problem.

In a meeting with the board of supervisors Monday afternoon the committee abetted by Superior Judge James Snelly and Probation Officer Thomas Barrett agreed a detention home should be located on a site of two acres or more and that it should be built to house four boys and two girls, managers and matrons.

Estimates of costs of such a detention home range from $15,000 to $35,000.

REV. CHRISTENSEN TO BE ORDAINED SATURDAY

Rev. Max Christensen, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, will be ordained tomorrow morning by the Rt. Rev. Noel Porter, the bishop of the Sacramento diocese, officiating.

Rev. A. W. Farlander, Santa Rosa, will be the speaker at the services, which start at 10:30 a.m.

Reception for the new clergyman will be held in parish hall.
